Weld Clerk and Recorder look to the future by adding a kiosk for South Weld County motor vehicle services.

WELD COUNTY, CO – Weld County residents in the southern area of the county now can renew their vehicle registration at a self-service kiosk, thanks to a new kiosk installed at the King Soopers located at 6110 Firestone Blvd Longmont.

The touch-screen terminal allows a citizen to walk up, scan the barcode on their vehicle renewal notice, pay fees by cash, check, credit, or debit card, and receive their printed registration and license plate tabs on the spot, without waiting at a county office.

“This is another way that we can continue to better serve the people of Weld County, I am very pleased and excited to keep pushing for new ways to improve government services. It’s time to recognize the potential of kiosk technology and the advancements we can continue to make in government services. I for one love the ability to continue to add technology,” said Weld County Clerk and Recorder Carly Koppes. “We were successful in the pilot of this program for the state and we are happy this is now a guaranteed service we can provide for everyone in Weld County, adding a kiosk for the southern part of the county has been one of my long term goals and I am pleased to be able to do so.”

Weld County's Motor Vehicle Division is one of the busiest in Colorado, ranking 6th out of 64. Only Arapahoe, Denver, El Paso, Jefferson, and Adams Counties process more transactions than Weld County.

In an effort to reduce wait times, the Clerk and Recorder's Office encourages citizens to “skip the trip” and renew their license plates by mail, online at www.colorado.gov/renewplates, or a drop-box at any County branch office. These alternatives save you time and fuel and help to conserve taxpayer resources.
